b. Comments and Concerns

- i. Christopher Whiteside mentioned that the LMI data that was generated 3 years ago shows an overabundance of supply*
- ii. There was a separate "Supplemental" Advisory Committee meeting from the "Primary" Advisory Committee meeting in the minutes*
- iii. Mercy Yanez, Voting Member at East Los Angeles College (ELAC), shared that ELAC has been trying to submit this program for over 5 years*
- iv. Carmen Dones shared her concern regarding the name of the program*

1. She mentioned that Law and Paralegal are two different entities and that Paralegal is not a pathway to law
2. West Los Angeles College found that Law is in the GE area and Paralegal is in the CTE area; she is not against this program as she had a discussion about this with ELAC, but it has to be one or the other
- v. It was recommended to pull this program for next month in order to address the concerns mentioned above; this recommendation did not taken into effect
- vi. Olivia Anderson, faculty member at East Los Angeles College, wrote the Paralegal Program and mentioned that some colleges and districts host the Paralegal Studies Program as a Law discipline
  1. ELAC will be hosting a Legal Aid on campus and this will be part of the program
- vii. Dr. Jim Lancaster, Vice President of Instruction and Alternate Voting Member for Los Angeles Trade-Technical College, mentioned that he recently ran a report for Paralegal in the Los Angeles County area and it showed a supply gap for Paralegal in the county
  1. There are some interesting pathways in this area, e.g. Law Public Policy and Society
- viii. Los Angeles City College has a successful Paralegal program and do not have any issues of an overabundance
- ix. Los Angeles Mission College mentioned they have no issues with this program, but would like to share that they currently have an online and hybrid program
- x. In conclusion, the program has been recommended
